GW In the News
July 15 – 31, 2007

Thejournalnews.com (7/17) chicagotribune.com (7/17) Cnsnews.com (7/16) and crosswalk.com (7/16) mentioned GW’s Campaign Finance Institute.

Science Letter (7/17 & 7/24) noted GW in an article regarding research findings that older adults with dementia are still capable of assuming advice-giving roles. Science Letter (7/31) published a trend article outlining recent GW research.

The Virginian-Pilot & The Ledger-Star (7/18) noted GW’s Hampton Roads Center campus.

The Washington Post (7/22) mentioned GW in an article regarding Google Earth.

Legal Times (7/23) mentioned GW Law School regarding its receipt of a class action award from the U.S. District Court of the District of Columbia.

USA Today (7/26) mentioned GW’s provision of foot baths for Muslim students in an article regarding whether Muslims are given preferential treatment at some universities.

Phillyburbs.com (7/26) and The Virginian-Pilot & The Ledger Star (7/28) noted GW for funding a national hotline in China that helps consumers sue or get their money back from fraudulent companies.

Statesmanjournal.com (7/16) noted GW’s Institute for Politics, Democracy, and the Internet.

Canada.com (7/27) and qconline.com (7/27) mentioned the GW Battleground Poll.

The Washington Post (7/28) and nbc4.com (7/29) mentioned a GW School of Public Policy and Public Administration study regarding meters versus zones for the D.C. Cab Commission.

Biotech Business Week (7/30) published a trend article regarding recent research by the Physicians Committee on Responsible Medicine including research on the effects of a low-fat vegan diet in which GW researchers participated.

Legal Times (7/30) mentioned GW’s partnership with the Duke Ellington School of the Arts.

Middle East Company News (7/31) and Al-Bawaba News (7/31) mentioned GW’s use of Cognos, the world leader in business intelligence and performance management solutions.

US Fed News (7/31) and FedBizOpps (7/31) noted that GW received funds from the U.S. Army for education and training services.
Examiner.com (7/30) mentioned GW’s use of AlertDC in an article regarding universities rushing to get an emergency communication system in place.

Brian Tringali mentioned GW’s Graduate School of Political Management in National Journal Hotline (7/19).

Christopher Arterton, dean of GW’s Graduate School of Political Management and professor of political management, was quoted on zwire.com (7/21), contracostatimes.com (7/22), tusconcitizen.com (7/26), and in an Associated Press article regarding political campaigns. The Washington Times (7/29) quoted him regarding the 20th anniversary of GW’s Graduate School of Political Management.

James R. Bailey, Tucker Professor of Leadership in the School of Business, co-authored an article in the July/August 2007 issue of BizEd magazine.

Nathan Brown, director of Middle East programs and professor of political science and international affairs, was quoted in El Pais (7/21) regarding the Israeli’s siege of the Gaza Strip and prevention of UNRWA’s humanitarian aid. Reuters News (7/21) and africa.reuters.com (7/21) quoted him regarding early Palestinian elections.

Frank Cilluffo, associate vice president for homeland security, was quoted in The Christian Science Monitor (7/20) and South China Morning Post (7/22) regarding the Department of Homeland Security’s attempts to make a smooth transition in January 2009 so as not to be vulnerable to terrorist attack.

James Clark, chair of the department of biological sciences and Ronald B. Weintraub Professor of Biological Sciences, was quoted on inform.kz (7/16) regarding China’s fossils.

Eric Cline, chair of the department of classical & Semitic language & literature and associate professor of classics, was mentioned on usatoday.com (7/15) for his book, From Eden to Exile: Unraveling Mysteries of the Bible.

Gene Cohen, professor of health care sciences, was quoted on seacoastonline.com (7/18) in an article regarding Boomer U, a certificate program at Heartwood College of Art, designed to meet the needs of students 50 and older. Dow Jones Business News (7/26) and Dow Jones News Service (7/26) quoted him regarding forgetfulness in middle age.

Carol Darr, director, GW’s Institute for Politics, Democracy, and the Internet, was interviewed on Australian Broadcasting Corporation (7/24) and on wusa9.com (7/24) regarding a YouTube-sponsored debate between Democratic presidential candidates.

Kennerly Digges, research professor of engineering and applied science, was quoted in The Milwaukee Journal Sentinel (7/28) regarding rear-end collisions resulting in fire in an article regarding Jeep SUV’s.

Amitai Etzioni, University Professor and professor of international affairs, was quoted in The Chronicle of Higher Education (7/27) in an article titled, “American Foreign Policy after Iraq.”
Julie Germany, deputy director, GW’s Institute for Politics, Democracy, and the Internet, was quoted in St. Louis Post-Dispatch (7/26) regarding Illinois Senator Dick Durbin’s use of live internet blogs.

Fred Gordin, professor of medicine, was quoted on medpagetoday.com (7/23) regarding HIV research.

Stephen Hess, distinguished research professor of media and public affairs, was quoted in Reuters News (7/16), kix961.com (7/16), and alertnet.org (7/16) regarding summer gridlock in Washington. St. Louis Post-Dispatch (7/22) quoted him regarding anonymous sources.

Karl Hobbs, men’s basketball coach, was mentioned on SUAthletics.com (7/21) and 9wxyz.com (7/26) regarding his position as assistant coach of the 2007 U19 World Championship Team.

Karl Inderfurth, John O. Rankin Professor of the Practice of International Affairs, was quoted in The Christian Science Monitor (7/23) regarding U.S. relations with Pakistan and how to move forward in light of increasing terrorist threat to the U.S.

Steven Keller, assistant professor of media and public affairs, was quoted in USA Today (7/25) regarding the use of jokes in the 2008 political campaign.

Orin Kerr, associate professor of law, was quoted in The Wall Street Journal (7/18) from comments in a law blog regarding a judge’s opinion issued in a case filed by the staff of a college student paper against its president.

Steven Knapp, president of the university, was interviewed by The Chronicle of Higher Education regarding his transition into the presidency. The Q & A was posted on chronicle.com (7/20).

J.M. Lachin, professor of epidemiology and biostatistics, was quoted in Diabetes Week (7/16) regarding diabetes risk factors research.

John Lill, assistant professor of biology, was quoted in wusa9.com (7/16) regarding Cicada Killer Wasps at the State Department.

Veronica Miller, associate research professor of prevention and community health, was quoted on eurekalert.org (7/16) idsociety.org (7/16) and Biotech Business Week (7/30) regarding HIV research.
Lawrence Mitchell, director of the programs on corporate responsibility and Theodore Rinehart Professor of Business Law, wrote an op-ed posted on businessweek.com (7/30) regarding the stock market.

Fitzhugh Mullan, professor of health policy, was quoted on todaystv.com (7/23), sunherald.com (7/21) and Kaisernetwork.org (7/23) regarding the call from developing nations for the U.S. to stop recruiting foreign doctors. Upi.com (7/23) quoted him regarding Cuba’s healthcare system and content.healthaffairs.org (7/16) posted his reviews of Edward O’Neil’s books, “Awakening Hippocrates” and “A Practical Guide to Global Health Services.”

Seyyed Hossein Nasr, University Professor of Islamic studies, was quoted on voanews.com (7/23) from his comments at a summer leadership program designed to promote understanding of legal issues and conflict resolution to empower Muslim women to make change in their communities.

Michael Olding, chief, division of plastic surgery and associate professor of surgery, was quoted on seattletimes.nwsource.com (7/22) regarding lipo-dissolve.

Christina Puchalski, associate professor of medicine, was quoted on bruneitimes.com.bn (7/24), Reuters News (7/18) and iol.co.za (7/18) regarding the U.S.’s perspective on death in an article that noted a center at GW Hospital which focuses on spirituality and end-of-life-issues.

Irene Riz, research scientist, was quoted in Blood Weekly (7/19) regarding new findings.

Jeffrey Rosen, professor of law, was quoted in Newsweek (7/16) regarding Supreme Court Justice Anthony Kennedy.

Sara Rosenbaum, chair of the department of health policy and professor of health policy, was quoted in rutlandherald.com (7/18) regarding two Senators’ request for a change in wording on a new mental health bill.

Stephen Saltzburg, director of the litigation and dispute resolution program and Wallace and Beverley Woodbury University Professor of Law, was quoted in USA Today (7/23) regarding the difficulty ex-convicts have when attempting to re-join communities.

Nina Gilden Seavey, assistant research professor of history and of media and public affairs, was quoted in The Washington Post (7/31) regarding a deal between the National Archives and Records Administration and Amazon.com to reproduce and sell historic videos from their files.

David Leigh Shambaugh, professor of political science and international affairs, was quoted in St. Petersburg Times (7/31) and The Virginian-Pilot & The Ledger Star (7/31) regarding China’s military.

Bruce Siegel, research professor of health policy, was quoted in The Washington Post (7/22) regarding two area hospitals in jeopardy of closing.

Myeong-Ho Sohn, assistant professor of psychology, was quoted in Life Science Weekly (7/31) regarding current neuro-psychology research.
Stephen Joel Trachtenberg, president emeritus, was interviewed for English.people.com.cn (7/19) and The Washington Post (7/21) noted him in an article regarding the dedication of a plaque to commemorate abolitionist Leonard A. Grimes and washingtonpost.com (7/26) posted a Reliable Source article on the departing president.

Jonathan Turley, J.B. and Maurice C. Shapiro Professor of Public Service Law, was quoted on myfoxdc.com (7/17) and wmal.com (7/17) regarding D.C.’s handgun ban. The Washington Post (7/30) quoted him regarding immigration bills and news.cincypost.com (7/28) quoted him regarding Michael Vick’s legal team.

Susan Wood, research professor of environmental and occupational health, was quoted on kaisernetwork.org (7/16) regarding the rise in the sale of Plan B, a morning-after pill.