GW In the News
September 16 – 30, 2007

Washington.bizjournals.com (9/17) noted GW as the school of choice for several finalists profiled in Top Washington Lawyers publication.

Theunionleader.com (9/19) noted GW’s “Democracy in Action” website in an article regarding the resignation of the deputy political director of John Edwards’ New Hampshire campaign.

Gazette.net (9/20) mentioned GW’s Graduate School of Education and Human Development Bilingual Special Education Program in an article regarding COSPELL, a program which allows county teachers the chance to earn a master’s degree with an emphasis on bilingual special education.

Examiner.com (9/24) noted GW for its association with Michael Kahn in the creation of the graduate Academy of Classical Acting.

Sfgate.com (9/26) mentioned the medical archives at GW in an article regarding the story of a man who underwent a lobotomy as a young boy.

Buffalo.edu (9/27) mentioned GW’s Institute for Spirituality and Health in an article regarding the new four-year curriculum, Spirituality in Medicine Interdisciplinary Training Program, offered at University at Buffalo.

Calibre.mworld.com (9/30) posted a Baltimore Sun article that noted a GW study regarding household gas consumption from 1980 to 2000.

Christopher Arterton, dean of GW’s Graduate School of Political Management and professor of political management, was quoted on Kentucky.com (9/8) regarding a newly released poll that shows Kentucky voters’ disapproval of the war and of Senator McConnell’s legislative action regarding post-war occupation of Iraq.

Phyllis Borzi, research professor, was quoted on blogs.wsj.com (9/26) regarding a deal between General Motors and United Auto Workers concerning employee health benefits.

Donald Braman, associate professor of law, was quoted on calibre.mworld.com (9/28) regarding the debate over gun control following the tragedy at Virginia Tech in an article announcing the results of a study by researchers affiliated with the Cultural Cognition Project at Yale Law School showing a cultural divide on such issues as global warming, domestic terrorism, and HPV vaccinations for young girls.
Jeremy Brown, assistant professor of emergency medicine, wrote an op-ed posted on natap.org (9/24) regarding H.I.V. testing in emergency rooms. Tradingmarkets.com also (9/24) posted the article.

Nathan Brown, director of Middle East programs and professor of political science and international affairs, was quoted on latimes.com (9/20) in an article regarding closing arguments in the Islamic charity trial.

William Chambliss, professor of sociology, was quoted on palmbeachpost.com (9/25) regarding social capital.

Michael Cornfield, research professor, GW’s Institute for Politics, Democracy, and the Internet, was quoted on ottumwacourier.com (9/18), cbs4denver.com (9/22), arkansasnews.com (9/25), and on politico.com (9/19) regarding online campaigning. www2.tbo.com (9/27) quoted him regarding a MoveOn.org ad published in The New York Times regarding General David Petraeus.

Rebecca Dedmond, assistant professor of counseling, was quoted on washingtonpost.com (9/23) regarding the D.C. school system’s shift of all ninth-graders to high school.

Amitai Etzioni, University Professor and professor of international affairs, wrote an article posted on news.yahoo.com (9/26) regarding a sociological approach to exiting Iraq.

Mark Feldstein, associate professor of media and public affairs, was quoted on ajr.org (Aug./Sept.) in an article regarding journalism ethics.

Kenneth Fine, assistant professor of orthopaedic surgery, was quoted on washingtonpost.com (9/29) regarding Gilbert Arenas’ knee injury.

Julie Germany, deputy director, GW’s Institute for Politics, Democracy, and the Internet, was quoted on news.yahoo.com (9/28) regarding the use of the internet for fundraising gimmicks, such as awarding the contributor with candidate visits.

Richard Green, director of the Read Estate Institute, director of the Center for Washington Area Studies, and Oliver T. Carr, Jr. Professor of Real Estate Finance, was quoted on pbs.org/nbr (9/18) regarding the House of Representatives’ vote to allow the Federal Housing Administration to assist in refinancing loans.

Stephen Hess, distinguished research professor of media and public affairs, was quoted on calibre.mworld.com (9/21) in a Voice of America profile of Sen. Barack Obama. In.news.yahoo.com (9/26) quoted him regarding whether Republicans will want President Bush’s campaign support. Nydailynews.com (9/29) quoted him regarding Hillary Clinton’s idea to give $5000 to each newborn in America.

Steven Keller, assistant professor of media and public affairs, was quoted on usnews.com (9/28) regarding Bill and Hillary’s protection of Chelsea Clinton from the media.

Frank Lee, associate professor of physics, was noted on gazette.net (9/26) for having received the 2007 Bender Teaching Award for Innovative Use of Technology at the annual faculty assembly.
Frederic Lemieux, associate professor and director of police science, was mentioned in the Washington Times (9/17) in an article regarding GW’s police-science program.

John Logsdon, research professor of political science and international affairs, was quoted on nytimes.com (9/25) regarding America’s space travel competitors.

Ira Lupu, associate dean for faculty development, law school, and F. Elwood and Eleanor Davis Professor of Law, was quoted on nytimes.com (9/28) regarding taxpayer-paid chaplaincies.

Marc Lynch, associate professor of political science and international affairs, was quoted on story.malaysiasun.com (9/15) regarding Gen. David Petraeus’ testimony before Congress.

Thomas Morgan, Oppenheim Professor of Antitrust and Trade Regulation Law, was quoted on Bloomberg.co.uk (9/20) regarding an investigation into an ethical issue regarding Humana’s former general counsel.

Spencer Overton, associate professor of law, was quoted in nytimes.com (9/24) regarding voter identification.

Jerrold Post, professor of political psychology & international affairs, was quoted on miamiherald.com (9/21) regarding assessing Venezuelan President Hugo Chavez’s mental health.

Walter Reich, Yitzhak Rabin Memorial Professor of International Affairs, Ethics & Human Behavior, wrote an op-ed posted on washingtonpost.com (9/23) regarding Iranian President Mahmoud Ahmadinejad's plans to lay a wreath at the site of the World Trade Center. Usnews.com (9/29) quoted him regarding Columbia University President Lee Bollinger’s invitation of Iranian President Mahmoud Ahmadinejad to speak at the university.

Jeffrey Rosen, professor of law, was quoted in nytimes.com (9/23) regarding Supreme Court Justice John Paul Stevens. Npr.org (9/28) posted an audio clip of an interview with Rosen as a guest on a program titled, “A Preview of the Supreme Court’s next term.” Truthnews.net (9/28) quoted him in an article regarding the new Supreme Court term.

Sara Rosenbaum, chair of the department of health policy and professor of health policy of health service management, was quoted on nytimes.com (9/18) regarding a new federal study that shows variation between states on healthcare spending.

Steven Schooner, senior associate dean for academic affairs in the Law School and associate professor of law, was quoted on washingtonpost.com (9/19) regarding private security firms in Iraq. Govexec.com (9/28) quoted him regarding a government contractor found liable for installing counterfeit goods.

David Shinn, adjunct professorial lecturer of international affairs, was interviewed for voanews.com (9/17) regarding involving Arab troops in a Somali peacekeeping force.

Lone Simonsen, adjunct professor of global health, was quoted on lifeandhealth.guardian.co.uk (9/25), on medilexicon.com (9/25), dailymail.co.uk (9/24), news.bbc.co.uk (9/25), sciam.com
Daniel Solove, associate professor of law, was quoted on law.com (9/24) regarding mandatory attendance policies.

Stephen Joel Trachtenberg, president emeritus of the university and university professor of public service, was quoted in a Chronicle of Higher Education article posted on campus-watch.org (9/28) regarding the Iranian president’s speech at Columbia University.

Jonathan Turley, J.B. and Maurice C. Shapiro Professor of Public Service Law, was interviewed for npr.org (9/17) and quoted on govexec.com (9/17) regarding Michael Mukasey’s prospects as attorney general. News.yahoo.com (9/18) quoted him regarding the Senate’s block of a plan to give D.C. a vote in Congress and sltrib.com (9/23) quoted him regarding Utah’s quest for a seat in the House. Baltimoresun.com (9/20) quoted him regarding charges dropped in the case of an Ocean City woman accused of murdering her baby. Tbo.com (9/26) quoted him regarding the case of two students at the University of South Florida charged with having explosives in their trunk. Truthnews.net (9/28) quoted him in an article regarding the new Supreme Court term. Nytimes.com (9/30) quoted him regarding retaining elderly prisoners.

Robert Tuttle, professor of law and D.R. & S Kirschner Berz Research Professor of Law and Religion, was quoted on nytimes.com (9/28) regarding taxpayer-paid chaplaincies.

Ronald Weitzer, professor of sociology, was quoted on Washingtonpost.com (9/23) regarding human trafficking. Lawprofessors.typepad.com (9/24) and dailyindia.com (9/23) posted the article.

Lawrence Wilkerson, professorial lecturer, wrote an article posted on indymedia.org.uk (9/19) entitled, “The Cuban Five.”

Ray Williamson, research professor of space policy and international affairs, was quoted on newkerala.com (9/28) regarding rules governing the space industry.