3) [] wrote a note of thanks to [] for our congratulations on apprehending EICHMANN and our offer to assist him by sending copies of Nazi SS files pertinent to EICHMANN's office and activities. He did not want long lists of names such as [] had shown him on his last trip to the U. S., because he had neither the personnel nor the time to chase these people down or investigate their backgrounds. He asked if we could not supply him with a list of document titles from which he could select certain items of interest. I explained to [] that it would be impossible to fulfill his request because there are about five miles of documents which are not carded according to subject matter or personalities. It was with great effort and selective digging that we were able to find the documents which I was giving to [] at this meeting for transmittal to [] -] This was merely the first batch; more would follow shortly.
