BOOKS

From Empire to Community by Amitai Etzioni
$29.95 $18.00
The first effort to formulate a communitarian theory of international relations and a communitarian approach to foreign policy. This book argues that the new global architecture must be based not only on Western principles of rights and liberty but also on Eastern notions of community and authority. Etzioni also points out that rising transnational problems can no longer be handled by nations and require a new layer of global institutions, including the budding global civil society as well as global political institutions.

The Limits of Privacy by Amitai Etzioni
$21.50 $9.00
An exploration of the right to privacy and the potentially negative impact it can have on public health and safety. Suggests criteria when privacy ought to yield and when it needs to be further extended. Case studies include sex offenders; HIV testing; medical records; ID cards; and encrypted communications.

The New Golden Rule by Amitai Etzioni
$23.00 $9.00
A foundational work of new communitarian theory. This book argues for the need to balance freedom with morality, and autonomy with community. It paves the way for a social order largely based on moral suasion rather than coercion.

Communitarianism and its Critics by Daniel A. Bell
$29.95
Bell offers a spirited defense of communitarianism in the face of liberal critiques, defining this political theory and its alternative moral and political vision.

The Moral Dimension by Amitai Etzioni
$17.95 $11.00
An examination of the role of ethics, moral values, and community in economics. Argues for the replacement of the neoclassical paradigm with the “I & We” paradigm.

East Meets West: Human Rights and Democracy in East Asia by Daniel A. Bell $23.95
Is liberal democracy universal? Daniel Bell explores this question with a look at Asian societies. Bell criticizes the “Asian values” perspectives, but finds that drawing on East Asian cultural traditions can create a model for political institutions that differs substantially from Western-style democracy.

The Communitarian Persuasion by Philip Selznick
$17.95 $9.00
A brief, thoughtful, readable argument for communitarian political philosophy by one of the principal thinkers of the movement.
The Spirit of Community by Amitai Etzioni
$20.95 $8.00
A concise, easy-to-read book setting forth the principles of communitarianism. It is a call to reinvent and reinvigorate our social and political institutions and restore a balance between rights and responsibilities.
