The Responsive Community
Rights and Responsibilities

Order a two-year subscription to The Responsive Community and receive a free copy of Amitai Etzioni’s recently published memoirs, My Brother’s Keeper: A Memoir and a Message.

The Responsive Community is a unique and thought-provoking intellectual quarterly. Tackling a wide range of social, moral, and legal issues, it presents sharp arguments and innovative ideas that transcend standard left/right rhetoric.

Recent issues of The Responsive Community have included articles by Charles Taylor on the need for community in democracy, Kevin W. Saunders on protecting children from harmful speech, Alan Wolfe on assimilation and multiculturalism, Richard M. Coughlin on the effects of socio-economic inequality on community, Jean Bethke Elshtain on what makes a war just, Stephen Macedo on social capital and religious groups, and Senator John McCain on national service.

Name and Address:
___________________________________________
___________________________________________
___________________________________________
___________________________________________

Email Address:___________________________

I’d like a ...

( ) Two-year subscription to The Responsive Community for $48 and a copy of My Brother’s Keeper. (Please add $14 for additional postage costs if you live outside of the United States.)

( ) Payment enclosed -- please make checks payable to The Responsive Community.

( ) Credit Card Payment:
( ) Visa  ( ) Mastercard  ( ) American Express

Name on Card: __________________________
Card Number: _________________________
Expiration Date: _______________________
Signature: ____________________________

Please remit payment to:
The Responsive Community
2020 Pennsylvania Avenue NW, PMB 282
Washington, DC 20077  USA

or fax this form to (202) 994-1606