

THE MINERVA PROGRAM: CORPORATE, INDIVIDUAL, NONPROFIT, AND GOVERNMENT SPONSORS

Since its inception, the Minerva Program has relied on the generous support of numerous corporate, individual, nonprofit, and government sponsors. Support has come from the private sector, public-private partnerships, the public sector, foundations and individuals, reflecting the philosophy of the program itself and its focus on public-private cooperation to promote Latin American economic progress.

The corporate sponsors, from both Latin America and the U.S., value the results of this training program and the benefits it provides to the program participants, their home countries, and the global economy. Their support demonstrates that they recognize the importance of an efficient, transparent public sector to the continued growth of the private sector.

The Minerva Program gratefully acknowledges the support of these donors and appreciates the contributions they have made to its continuing success:
