Russia's Security Agenda under Putin: A Blurring of Internal and External Securities
Part of IERES' Behind the Headlines Series with

Aglaya Snetkov, Senior Researcher

This talk investigates the evolution of Russia’s security policy under President Vladimir Putin in the 21st century, using a critical security studies approach. In particular, Snetkov examines the interrelationship between the internal-external nexus and the politics of (in)security and regime-building in Putin’s Russia.

Dr. Aglaya Snetkov is Senior Researcher, Center for Security Studies, ETH Zurich, Switzerland, and holds a Doctorate from the University of Birmingham. She is the author of the recently published Russia's Security Policy under Putin: A critical perspective (London: Routledge) and is also a co-editor of the Russian Analytical Digest (RAD)
