What's Wrong in the Relationship Between Tajikistan and Uzbekistan?

with

Volker Jacoby

Former Human Rights Officer, UN Regional Centre for Preventive Diplomacy for Central Asia

Volker Jacoby will shed light on the uneasy relationship between Tajikistan and Uzbekistan and put it into the broader regional context of Central Asia. He will talk about the water/energy nexus in the region and the struggle over the Rogun Hydropower station project in Tajikistan, the conflict over the Farhad water reservoir, TALCO, border delimitation, railroad connections and other strains between the two neighbors. He will also elaborate on necessity and prospects of cooperation in the region, with a view also towards the withdrawal of international combat forces from Afghanistan.

Tuesday, May 7, 2013
4:30-6:00pm
1957 E Street, NW, Room 505
Please RSVP at http://tinyurl.com/May7-Jacoby

This event is on the record