Whither Germany?
Reflections on the German Election and its Consequences for Europe
Part of IERES’s Behind the Headlines Series

with

Alexander Reisenbichler
Ph.D. Student and Doctoral Fellow, GWU

Discussants:
Harvey Feigenbaum, Professor of Political Science and International Affairs, GWU
Sabine Muscat, Independent Journalist

The speakers will discuss the results of the German federal election, to be held on September 22, and what they mean for the future of Germany and the European Union.

Alexander Reisenbichler is a Ph.D. student in political science at the George Washington University. He has been a visiting researcher at the Max Planck Institute for the Study of Societies in Cologne and the Hertie School of Governance in Berlin, conducting research on housing, financial, and labor markets. His work on the German political economy has appeared in Politics & Society and ForeignAffairs.com. Harvey Feigenbaum is professor of political science and international affairs at GWU. He teaches and writes on comparative politics, political economy, and politics in Western Europe. Sabine Muscat is an independent journalist and a former Washington correspondent for the German Financial Times.

Friday, September 27, 2013
12:00 – 1:30 p.m.
Voesar Conference Room
1957 E Street NW, Suite 412
Please RSVP at http://go.gwu.edu/Germany

This event is on the record