Global Crisis, European Cooperation, and the Political Economy of National Unity in Modern Greece
Part of IERES' European Politics Series

with

Orfeo Fioretos
Associate Professor, Temple University

Orfeo Fioretos is an associate professor in the department of political science at Temple University. His research is focused on the politics of markets and international institutions. Fioretos is the author of Creative Reconstructions: Multilateralism and European Varieties of Capitalism After 1950 (Cornell University Press, 2011), which explores the role of international economic institutions in shaping the evolution of alternative models of advanced capitalism. With Mark Pollack, Dr. Fioretos is writing a new interdisciplinary introduction to global studies called The World (Oxford University Press). His articles have appeared in journals such as International Organization, Review of International Political Economy, Comparative Political Studies, Journal of European Public Policy, and the Review of International Studies. Dr. Fioretos received his PhD from Columbia University.

Thursday, November 10, 2011
12:00-1:30 p.m.
Dean Maurice A. East Conference Room
1957 E Street NW, Suite 501
Please RSVP at igis@gwu.edu

Read Dr. Fioretos’ paper at http://www.gwu.edu/~igis/events/

This event is co-sponsored by the Institute for Global and International Studies

This event is on the record