The Institute for European, Russian and Eurasian Studies (IERES) and The Sigur Center for Asian Studies are pleased to invite you to:

Sino-Russian Relations in the Northeast Asian Regional Context

with

Gilbert Rozman

Musgrave Professor of Sociology, Princeton University

This talk will assess Sino-Russian relations in triangular contexts. It will consider the Korean peninsula, Japan, and regionalism in Asia as well as examining Central Asia and South and Southeast Asia. Stress will be placed on Chinese reasoning and how Russia is responding.

Gilbert Rozman is the Musgrave Professor of Sociology at Princeton University and a Woodrow Wilson International Center Fellow. He earned a BA from Carleton College in Chinese and Russian Studies after completing a year at Princeton in the Critical Languages Program. He received his PhD from Princeton in Sociology and has been on the faculty there for 40 years. He recently published a series on Strategic Thought toward Asia, the first volume of which was Russian Strategic Thought and the final volume Chinese Strategic Thought.
