Imagining Europe: Symbols and Practices in the Construction of the EU

Part of IERES' European Politics Series

with

Kathleen McNamara
Associate Professor, Georgetown University

This talk draws on a book project currently underway entitled Imagining Europe. The speaker will investigate the social construction of political authority in the European Union through the use of culture, symbols and practice.

Kathleen McNamara is an Associate Professor of Government and Foreign Service at Georgetown University. She is an expert on the politics of international economic relations, specializing in the European Union, the Euro and the European Central Bank. She is the author of The Currency of Ideas: Monetary Politics in the European Union (Cornell University Press, 1998), co-editor of Making History: European Integration and Institution Change at Fifty (Oxford University Press, 2007) and has published numerous essays on globalization, economic institutions, and the role of norms and culture in policymaking.
